Looking Back towards Coldingham on the Reston Road.

Circular Path Sign – now head Inland.

Opens out a bit for a short section. No issues following the path.

Follows the fence quite closely and you start to come across a few gorse bushes in places. Makes sense to have your legs suitably protected.

The path still runs along the fence. (Taken looking back when walking the route anticlockwise)

Small stile of sorts to cross.

Heading down the slope there is metal gate on your left. Small slatted bridge to your right.

Cross the bridge and turn right.

Can be quite damp and slippy in places. Watch tour footing.

50m or so later there is another bridge to cross. Hold onto the rail. Bridge has a bit of a slope.

You will now reach a direction sign or what would have been a gate a some point in time.. Continue straight on.

The path is clearly visible here.

Path heads up a slope. There is a rope will assist you. Do use if it is muddy

The rope can now be seen. There are the remains of a few steps.

Continuing uphill.

Looking back as the path runs tight to the fence. Still more gorse bushes.

At last there are no gorse bushes. The gate marks the beginning of the easier section.

Taken looking back.

Cross the bridge where the path runs parallel with Colania Dene.	The signpost marks the other end of the inland section. Take the unclassified road back to Coldingham.
